GVP, Global Client Onboarding

Rimini Street

David Miller is responsible for the transition of clients from vendor support to Rimini Street. As an IT veteran with over 30 years' experience in a variety of roles in the telecommunication, financial, legal and local government industries, he has managed global support desks for organizations with a worldwide presence.

Prior to joining Rimini Street, Mr. Miller worked for a major law firm managing its PeopleSoft application and technology stack. His 18 years of experience supporting various PeopleSoft HCM releases included managing major upgrades, initial system implementations and custom development solutions. Before transitioning to ERP applications, Mr. Miller implemented and oversaw problem management and system monitoring systems such as Hewlett-Packard OpenView. During his tenure as an IT professional he fulfilled database administration, sales support, project management and systems development roles.
